DEMOCRACY 2040

Preferred Future Scenario Canvas

As your team has journeyed across time, your initial system sketch has evolved to address different kinds of public problems. In this final stop on our journey, the year is 2040 and your team's designs have been adopted to make an improved democratic system. Your final task is to use this canvas to show how this new system works and supports your team's values, hopes and aspirations for a better society.

To help build your democratic proposal:

1. Review the democratic methods you already built in your group:
Look at the democratic responses your team developed.
- How do different parts of your system work together?
- How might your system continue to evolve in response to difficult situations and decisions?
- Could you add a new democratic innovation or adjust your existing ideas to make the system more complete?
- Think about the relations between potential issues and the system you've already created.
- How do they reflect and support your team's initial hopes and values?

2. Visualise your team's system working in 2040:
- Use democratic innovations and ideas that you have developed along your journey.
- Begin arranging these on the canvas to map out your system in 2040.
- Draw arrows to show connections between pieces of your system or how processes relate to one another. Write explanations of your ideas.
- Use Pictograms to help show how your system works for different people, communities, and organisations.
